

WHAT REAL PARENTS PLAN TO DO

WHEN SCHOOLS OPEN

60% of parents haven't made a final decision about where their kids will attend school in August

Parents who indicated that they intend to keep kids out of in-person classes said:

In order to make a decision about next year, parents said that they want to hear from:

50% plan to enroll kids in a fully virtual school either through their ISD or in a charter network

45% said they're waiting to hear guidance regarding school safety from the CDC

32% plan to enroll kids in a school that offers virtual and in-person classes

43% said they're waiting to hear from local school leaders, like teachers and principals, before making a decision

97% of parents said they would take advantage of a microgrant

>75% said they would use funds for tutoring and materials

23% said they would use funds for therapy